Re. Statement from Consumer Anthony Salmer in regard to the Monroe County investigator pop up visit.

Sometime in May '10 a Monroe County investigator showed up at my home at 10 a.m.
He identified himself as an investigator and stated to me that he showed up for the visit because he noticed a "gap" in services from his computer at that time.

my attendant, Dominique Bridgewater was on duty and was present when this investigator was talking to me. This investigator stated to me and Dominique that no one signed on duty through the phone system. I told him that I have been having problems with Time Warner Cable and Dominique tried to sign on but the phone service was out.

The investigator then left without further question. He stayed about 5 minutes
